INSURANCE COMPANIES.—A case of considerable interest to the business community and involving some important constitutional questions has been brought before the Virginia Court of Appeals, by Jno. Howard Esq., in the shape of a petition for appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Petersburg in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Paul. The appellant in this case is an agent for an underwriter's agency in New York, representing four companies and a capital of $3,000,000, and the object of the appeal is to test the constitutionality of an act passed by the last Assembly requiring foreign insurance companies to deposit with the State Treasurer $50,000 in State stock as a guarantee. The appellant pleads that while perfectly able to make the required deposit, no such deposit is required from local companies, and that the Constitution of the United States provides that all citizens of the several States shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens of other States in all the States; that Congress has exclusive power to regulate commerce between the States; that State governments have no right to prescribe conditions of contract between citizens of different States or to impose taxes on such contracts, and that if a State has a right to require a deposit of $50,000, it has an equal right to demand one of $500,000, or such a sum as would amount to a complete prohibition of foreign capital.—Rich. NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year has, moreover, been crowned by many peculiar blessings. The civil war that so recently closed among us has not anywhere reopened; foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm or apprehension; in trustful penitence has been benignly mitigated; domestic tranquility has improved; and sentiments of reconciliation have largely prevailed, and affections of loyalty and patriotism have been widely revived; our fields have yielded quite abundantly; our mining industry has been richly rewarded; and we have been allowed to extend our railroad system far into the interior recesses of the country, while our commerce has resumed its customary activity in foreign seas. These great national blessings demand a national acknowledgment.

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the 20th day of November next, be set apart and be observed everywhere in the several States and Territories of the United States, by the people thereof, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, with due remembrance that "in His temple doth every man speak of His honor."

I recommend, also, that on the same solemn occasion they do humbly and devoutly implore Him to grant to our national councils, and to our whole people, that divine wisdom which alone can lead any nation into ways of all good.

In offering these national thanksgivings, prayers and supplications, we have the Divine assurance that "the Lord remaineth a King forever. Then that meek shall be his guide in judgement, and such as are gentle shall He learn His way. The Lord shall give strength to His people, and the Lord shall give to His people the blessing of peace."

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-first.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

By the President,
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

The amount of exercise which visitors to the Paris Exhibition will be able to indulge in is something fabulous. There are to be no less than seventy-five kilometres of avenues, alleys, paths, garden-walks, and squares. Little omnibus chairs, starting from a given point, will permeate the building at a slow pace.

Contradictory reports prevail in the European papers, as to the issue of matters in Rome, and whether the Pope is to remain in that city. Some accounts say he will go to Malta, or to England. Others that the difficulty will yet be adjusted, and that he will remain.

A Paris paper contains a notice of a curious object of art, a marble flute. There exist but two marble flutes in the world; one of which forms part of the collection of Prince Demidoff and the one under notice, belonging to the celebrated violinist, Servais.

Among the sensational paragraphs about the Paris Exhibition is one concerning a new model steam guillotine, invented by a compatriot of Count Bismarck. The guillotine is capable of cutting off six heads a minute, and eight, if properly handled.

Owing to the failure of the crop in some parts of England, and the paralysis of certain forms of manufacturing industry, there is very great suffering among many of the working people.

The accounts from Europe by the Persia are of the same discouraging character as to the harvests as those previously received.

"We are informed that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company offer to take the Manassas Gap Railroad and put it in running order; but that the Manassas Company refuse (through Mr. Marshall, its President,) to allow them to touch it until they are paid $500,000 in advance of the cost of building the road to its present condition."—Harrisburg Telegraph (Pa.) Oct. 10th.

As the above extract, taken from the Old Commonwealth, and published in the Gazette, issued last evening, circulates an erroneous statement, calculated to injure the Manassas Company, particularly with our friends in the Valley, I feel called upon to communicate the facts of the case.

In order to carry out the policy, thought to be advantageous to both the Valley and Manassas interests, embodied in the Legislation of last winter, the Stockholders of the Manassas Company, at its session on the 11th of April last, at which all its interests were represented, passed certain resolutions, published at the time in certain newspapers, which were believed to carry out harmoniously the objects aimed at by both the Eastern and Valley sections.

The policy of the Legislature referred to, adopted unanimously by the Stockholders of the Manassas Company, was predicated, and its successful execution known to depend upon getting liberal aid from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. The statement of the Old Commonwealth virtually charges the Manassas Company with balking this joint work, by their making the aid to be given by the Baltimore & Ohio Company to the building of the road in the Valley, dependent upon an advance to it of $500,000.

So far from pursuing any such course, Mr. Marshall made two distinct proposals in writing to the President of the Baltimore & Ohio Company. The first was a short loan of $100,000 for the purpose of immediately finishing the road from Strasburg to Kratochvil; the other proposal was a loan of $100,000, which with the means at the command of the Manassas Company, were to be used in the construction of the road between Winchester and Strasburg.

These propositions were not connected with any condition whatever, and the application was made for so small an amount because of the repeated conversations with Mr. Garrett, in which he took the ground that his immediate engagements required all the funds he had at command, and forbade his aiding the Virginia roads for some time to come. His proffer of aid in the construction of the road to Strasburg, was afterwards withdrawn for some reason.

Earnest and repeated efforts were made to get from the Baltimore & Ohio Company, without any conditions having reference to their building the Manassas road east of Strasburg, and made in company with gentlemen of highest consideration in the Valley, but were not responded to by Mr. Garrett.

The "Old Commonwealth" proposes to make short work of the matter at the next meeting of the Legislature. "The Manassas Company will be made to show to the next Legislature its financial competency to make the road to Harrisburg, and in its default, another party must be authorized to make it, who will have the building of the road between Harrisburg and Strasburg completed by Sept. next, when and where will be made a branch road of the Baltimore & Ohio Company, extending from Strasburg to Winchester."

We do not regret this exposure of the policy of the Old Commonwealth, and have only to say that the editor may find an obstacle in his way, which he does not now perceive.

These advantages are, in part, the following: 1. Extensive and commodious buildings, thoroughly repaired and refurnished, capable of boarding 100 students, and of accommodating more than three hundred students in one of the most beautiful and salubrious localities, and affording ample facilities for a full physical development by boating, swimming, skating, and other healthful and useful exercises. 2. A full course in the departments of study usually embraced in a college curriculum, and, in addition, a very extensive range of selection in Special Departments.

3. Special and prominent attention is given to the study of the history, structure and literature of the English language. Every student is required to give to the study of the English language systematic and thorough training in the knowledge and correct use of our mother tongue.

4. Unusual facilities are afforded for the study of German, French, Italian and Spanish, without extra charge.

5. A special and comprehensive course of instruction is furnished for those who design to teach. To all such students tuition is remitted on easy conditions.

6. An extensive course of instruction is provided in Physical Geography, National Industries and Resources, Commercial Law, Book Keeping, and such other studies as are required to prepare young men to enter successfully into business and commercial pursuits.

7. A carefully graded preparatory department, including Classical and English studies, is under the same general government, and taught by the same professors, as the Collegiate Department.

8. A well-selected corps of able and experienced Professors, as follows:

HENRY BARNARD, LL.D., Principal, and Professor of Mental, Moral and Social Science, including the principles and Methods of education.
